

Project Introduction:

All majors of China University of Geosciences welcome international students to pursue further studies, and applicants are free to choose Chinese-medium lecture major or English-medium lecture major. The schooling period of advanced students is generally 1 semester --2 academic years. Instead of academic degree, the advanced study certificate will be granted to students who have passed the refresher courses. If required, the school will also provide transcripts.

Length of schooling: Half a year- 2 years. Spring semester: February-July of each year. Fall semester: September to January of the next year.

Senior advanced student: Science and engineering: RMB 30,000 /academic year; art: RMB 27,000 /academic year

* Final tuition standard shall be subject to the admission pricing.

Enrollment Target:

Senior advanced students: Foreign nationals under the age of 40, sound in body and mine, university degree or equivalent to China's bachelor degree, in pursuit of further study of a subject under the guidance of our school professors.

Our school may lower Chinese requirements or exempt HSK scores of applicants who pursue English-medium lecture courses; however, these applicants should have good command of English.

Application time:

Spring semester: Submit application on October 1 of each year, send out application materials before December 20, and the application and sending dates shall be subject to the postmark.

Fall semester: Submit application in February of each year, send out application materials before June 20, and the application and sending dates shall be subject to the postmark.

Application Materials:

1. 1 Admission Application Form of China University of Geosciences (Wuhan) for International Students (Advanced Students) (which is automatically generated from online registration), it shall be filled in Chinese or in English, printed and signed by applicant, and pasted with photo;

2. 1 photocopy of passport, which shall be an ordinary passport within valid period;
3. Original or notarized photocopy of highest academic certificate shall be in Chinese or in English;
4. All course transcripts or notarized photocopies corresponding to academic certificate shall be originals or notarized photocopies in Chinese or in English.
5. Chinese-medium lecture: 1 photocopy of Chinese Proficiency Test (HSK), or other materials which can prove your Chinese level; English-medium lecture: 1 photocopy of TOEFL (IBT score above 80) or IELTS (above 6.0) certificate, or other materials which can prove your English proficiency;
6. The applicants who apply for senior refresher project shall offer detailed refresher plan as well as recommendation letter from two associate professors or scholars with corresponding professional title.
7. Other supplementary materials required by China University of Geosciences (Wuhan) if necessary

Note: The application materials will not be returned.

Application Methods:

1. Fill in online application form

Note: Online registration is a prerequisite procedure of application. Without prior online registration, your paper application materials will not be accepted.

2. Online Application Process:

Log on online registration system→Fill in and submit admission application form
→ Pass preliminary review → Print and sign application form → Send application materials by post→Wait for application results→Search results from system

Note: The applicant should keep telephone or mobile phone unobstructed, and check your mailbox and letter on a regular basis; we will keep in touch with applicants in light of actual situation.

3. Notes to online application: please choose “non-degree students”, student type: senior advanced student, lecture language: Chinese/English, expected starting time of major study: 2014-2-25/2014-9-01, and expected ending time of major study: 2014-7-20/2015-1-31/2015-7-20